CORNELY
CORDING AND EMBROIDERY MACHINE.
MACHINE “X”

Manufactured by
Anciens Etablissements
R. Cornely & Cie., Paris, France

With this machine, cords, gimps, tinsel, stringed beads and similar materials can be sewn by means of one single thread which forms the chain stitch and which at the same time is wound around the material which is to be sewn, but without piercing through said material. The chain stitch is produced upon the upper side of the cloth, whilst the cords or other materials are secured to the under side of said cloth, and the finest cords, gimps, tinsel, etc., can be used to great advantage.
