

Smithsonian Institution Libraries

Thomas Garnett Assistant Director, Digital Library and Information Systems

Thomas Garnett is Assistant Director for Digital Library and Information Systems of the Smithsonian Institution Libraries. He is responsible for Libraries' electronic outreach efforts including Galaxy of Knowledge, Libraries' web presence; the Libraries' Imaging Center; and the conception, implementation and maintenance of the Libraries' numerous digital products. His major projects at the Libraries' include: the Libraries' Digital Editions of Rare Books in Natural History, Design, and the History of Science; Historical Trade literature and Industry Catalogs Online; Native American Literature from the Bureau of American Ethnology Publications; the Electronic Biologia Centrali-Americana, biodiversity tools for deep research.

Garnett holds a M.L.S. from Catholic University, a B.A. in comparative religion from the University of Colorado. In 1995, he received a fellowship from the Council for Excellence in Government.

