

the following transverse, but a little prominent at the base; showing an oblique backward direction, which gradually becomes more pronounced from the 14th to the 18th. Caudal process conical, as in R. mystecus.

♂. Less arched, the keels wider and horizontal, coriaceous and sparsely granular above.

Length, ♀, 37 millim., width 8.

„ ♂, 32 „ „ 6.

Hab. MEXICO, Eastern Cordillera<sup>1 2</sup>.

---

CORRIGENDUM.—Page 113, l<sup>1</sup> of the table of the families and subfamilies of the Group POLYDESMOIDEA, for “no hair-lined depression” read “usually a hair-lined depression” &c.